INTER OFFICE NOTE

Last week, a few Computers at HO have been infected with a new type Virus known as Locky Ransomware. It infects all MS Office and Open Office files. It also infects files with extensions Text, Zip, Rar, Mp3, Mp4, Jpeg etc. It can infect about 200 different types of files. After infecting, all the files mentioned above are encrypted and names are changed and all infected files will get a common extension as 'LOCKY'. It is not possible to recover the files, as of now. Though, our official Antivirus can detect this Virus in majority of the cases, it can only prevent infection, but can not decrypt the files encrypted by the Virus. The users are also required to exercise considerable caution to avoid infections.

Therefore, all the users are requested to follow the steps mentioned below without fail.

- Do not open suspicious attachments (e.g. .doc, .xls and .zip files) that you receive via email.
- Disable Microsoft Office Macros by default and never enable macros in strange/unknown attachments that you receive via email.
- Keep recent backup copies of all important data in a CD/DVD or Clean Pen Drive. Do not use Pen Drives in outside Computers, especially in the Internet Centres.
- Ensure that your Antivirus is fully updated and patched.
